

(Room Change) Spatial Disorientation Doesn't Always Happen in the Clouds!

When and how can we know when we need to scale back on the difficulty and complexity of our flying? What are the indications? How can we prolong our flying years safely and leave on our own terms? How can we help our friends, husbands, wives, or others arrive at this very tough decision?

Directions: From I-5 north or south, follow the signs to the Museum of Flight. Tonight's presentation will be in the Museum's theater.

A message from the National FAASTeam Manager

Over 136,600 pilots earned WINGS credits last year. Will you, this year?
